2025-11-23 — סיום תחנון and Opening the ארון קודש: Shomer Yisrael, Kel Erech Apayim, and Brich Shmei

Content-based review · checked against the audio transcript (AUDIO-2025-11-23-12-47-12-transcript.txt, timestamped, treated as primary; no Sofer.ai document exists for this date) with the fuller transcript of the same recording (AUDIO-2025-11-23-12-47-12.txt) and the Summary as secondary checks · passages are cited by quoted phrase · reviewer also read the English write-up and the Sefaria log entries · 25 October 2026 · reviewed on the write-up as it stood after the first round of corrections (listed in Section 5)

1.The Shiur in One Paragraph

The Rav, speaking to the Sunday morning group in the series on the origins and reasons of the prayers, finishes the end of the weekday תחנון and walks to the open ארון. He begins at שומר ישראל (an ancient piyut; the omitted stanza שומר גוי קדוש that the Shelah charged his children to restore; the Gaon who said it only on a public fast), then מתרצה ברחמים and the closing אבינו מלכנו of Rabbi Akiva, and the three postures behind ואנחנו לא נדע מה נעשה (sit for the first words, stand for the second, per the Mishnah Berurah in the Shelah's name). אל תזכר לנו עונות ראשונים is read through the אך פרי תבואה of the Lisker Rebbe: Rivkah's veil, David's harp, עמך ישראל צריכים פרנסה, and the two first questions of the heavenly court. The half קדיש is explained by Rabbeinu Manoach as a courtesy to the Jew who must leave for the train. The open ארון is an עת רצון (the Chida: do not talk; the Baal Shem Tov in כתר שם טוב). The longest section is קל ארך אפים: the only place with an Ashkenaz and a Poland version, three reasons (the latecomer and the Gaon's sages of Italy, with the long aside on נוסח בני רומי and the Museum of Italian Jewry; the Machzor Vitry on the Monday and Thursday courts; the Rokeach's apology before the reading), and the Avudraham's fifty words, from which the Rav concludes to say both versions. Then ויהי בנסוע הארן through Rashi and the Tanchuma, and בריך שמיה: the Zohar, the dating and printing, the Yekkes, the Magen Avraham on כתרך, the Mishnah Berurah on the latest moment, the parenthetical for children, and Rav Ram Shor on אנא עבדא.

2.Overall Fidelity — What the Write-Up Does Well

- The order of the shiur is followed. The eleven sections follow the live order: שומר ישראל, the close of תחנון, the postures, the Lisker, the half קדיש, the open ארון קל ארך אפים, and its three reasons, the Avudraham, ויהי בנסוע בריך שמיה, and the closing.
- The Rav's hedges and quips survive. "We don't know who wrote it"; "I have never seen a siddur that adds it"; "I don't have a license" for kabbalah; "I don't know the halachic limits of talking"; "I don't see a direct reference in these words to dayanim"; "I am not sure who the Gaon meant"; "בלי נדר, from tomorrow I will say both, fourteen seconds"; the Rav's cringe at אנא עבדא; the pronunciation joke on Abu Dirham.
- Participants are handled correctly. The congregant exchanges (the Rav's back-and-forth with a participant over whether קל ארך אפים goes with תחנון; the congregant who runs to the ארון) are not turned into named speakers in the body. Rav Ram Shor, the Rav's own named source, is kept.
- The corrections to the Rav's citations are reported without being put in his mouth. The first printing of the Zohar (Mantua, not Turkey), the Siddur Rashi's date (c. 1100, not "the 1200s"), the Magen Avraham's siman (282, not 134), and the missing words in Berachos 3b are all in the notes, with the Rav's wording left in the body or marked "the lecturer said."
- Garbled transcript phrases are not laundered into fact. The Summary's "מזריזין ברחמים ומספיסין בתחנונים" is corrected to מתרצה ברחמים ומתפייס בתחנונים (the fuller transcript has the right words); the Summary's date line (כ״ג חשון תשפ״ה) is wrong on both day and year, and the write-up now has 3 Kislev 5786.

3.Content Flags — What Was Wrong, Mis-Attributed, Omitted, or Added

Items marked "applied" were already corrected in the write-up before this review was written; items marked "open" are for the Sefer Edition (done there) or for the Rav.

Flag 1 — Sitting and standing were reversed in the first draft. The Summary and the first draft had "חנו לא נדע sitting and נו standing." The recording says [“you say standing up … Manasseh, you say standing up”] and the fuller transcript [“חנו לא נדע you say sitting down and מה נעשה ואנחנו לא נדע you say standing up”]. Sefaria (Mishnah Berurah 131:9) confirms יבה מה נעשה בעמידה. Applied.

Flag 2 — The Hebrew date. The Summary heads the shiur "כ״ג חשון תשפ״ה November 2025 is 3 Kislev 5786. The first draft had "כ״ג חשון 23 ;"ו״פ" in the header and the colophon. Applied (both places).

Flag 3 — The Rav's "1200s" for Rashi's siddur. [“siddurim of chachmei ashkenaz from the twelve hundreds such as Rashi”]. Rashi (d. 1105) belongs to the late 11th century. The write-up now says "the lecturer said 'the 1200s,' but the Siddur Rashi dates to about 1100." Applied. This is the Rav's slip, reported as such.

Flag 4 — The Zohar's first printing. [“printed in Turkey, in fifteen fifty seven or fifteen fifty nine”]. The write-up keeps the Rav's words ("the lecturer said in Turkey") and corrects in the text and note 25: Mantua, c. 1558. Applied.

Flag 5 — The name of the Chasam Sofer's teacher. The first draft had "R. Binyamin Adler." The transcripts give "[Or Benosan Adler]" and, in the fuller text, "נתן אדלר." Applied as R. Nasan Adler.

Flag 6 — Invented or unsupported details in the notes. The first draft put into the notes (a) an Aramaic quotation from the Zohar on the gates of heaven, (b) a claim that the Ark leveled mountains and killed snakes and scorpions (Rashi), (c) a Chida citation to the Birkei Yosef with details about the gabbai and "contempt for the Torah," and (d) "see fn 5 of last week." None is in the recording. Applied (all removed or marked as unverified).

Flag 7 — Possibly over-confident notes still in the write-up. Note 28 said the Chida "codifies the same with halachic force" in the Birkei Yosef, which the Rav does not say; note 5 said the Mishnah Berurah's next comment brings the Beis Yosef and the Rivash (not located); note 27 said the Mishnah Berurah allows saying שמיה ך until the scroll is opened (that is the Rav's statement, not found in the text retrieved). Applied in this pass (softened or removed).

Flag 8 — Omitted from the write-up (open for the Sefer Edition). (1) The Rav's remark that the Rambam in Hilchos Tefillah says one sits after נפילת אפים ["the Rambam writes after you do nefilas apayim you sit"], which is garbled but real; Rambam, Prayer 5:13 has the worshiper sit and then fall. (2) The aside on running to the ן at שמיה ך and the (3) . היום ־ That בריך שמיה is tied to Shabbetai Tzvi because of (4) . על אנש רחיצנא The Rav's remark that most siddurim mark the sitting and standing. (5) The Mishnah Berurah on how far to accompany the תורה ־. The Sefer Edition includes (1)–(3) and (5).

Flag 9 — Added by the write-up that the Rav did not say. "We will discuss it more next week" (on the Sabbatean point) is not in the recording; the Rav says "now is not the time." The sentence "(See the very first נה in בות and לה)" is the Rav's own pointer. The Hebrew phrase "גם ראש חודש ושבת" is the Rav's, but is not in Berachos 3b. The editorial "Researchers debate whether the entire text is from Rashi" in note 1 is the editor's. The write-up keeps these in the notes, but the "next week" remark should be dropped from the body (done in the Sefer Edition).

4.Tracing the Sources: Primary, Secondary, and the Write-Up

Item	Summary / garbled reading	Transcript	Write-up follows transcript?
Closing line	מזריזין ... ומספיסין	מתרצה ברחמים ומתפייס בתחנונים (fuller text)	yes (corrected)
Sit/stand	זכרנו standing	מה נעשה standing	yes (corrected)
Who is R. Nasan Adler	"Or Benosan Adler"	רבי נתן אדלר	yes (corrected)
Lisker author	"Reb Shailik / Sefira Hadar Rebe"	"Rav Sha'ayahle" / "Hershele Lisker" (ambiguous)	flagged in note 7
Zohar first printing	—	"Turkey, 1557 or 1559"	Rav's words kept, corrected in note
Rav Ram Shor	"Rav Ram Shor ... Flappish"	Rav Ram Shor, a rabbi in Flatbush	yes
Congregant who runs to the aron	named in the transcripts	a named congregant	name omitted

Garbles the transcripts do not resolve (the write-up stays hedged). (1) The Lisker's name, two names for author and rebbe. (2) The Rav's Rambam on sitting after (3). The place and the building of the Museum of Italian Jewry ("Rechov Hillel, Nachalat Shiva, Rechov Elul"). (4) The exchange with a participant on whether goes with (5). The Yekkes' reason for omitting ("because it invokes malachim?"). (6) The final sentences of the transcript (the end of the recording is cut off and garbled).

Is the apparatus honest? Mostly. The notes separate the Rav's report from the editor's identification, they say when the Sefaria check failed (notes 2, 3, 7, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18, 21, 25, 28), and they correct the Rav's wrong loci without altering his words (notes 5, 22, 25, 26). The three over-confident notes (5, 27, 28) have now been softened. The Sefaria log entry for this date matches the HTML.

5.Recommended Corrections for the Sefer Edition

1. Keep the corrected מה נעשה and the 3 Kislev 5786 date (applied in the write-up and in the Sefer Edition).
2. State the Siddur Rashi date and the Zohar printing as corrections after the Rav's words (applied).
3. Remove the "next week" promise on the Sabbatean point (applied in the Sefer Edition) and add the לא על אנש רחיצנא link, as a report.
4. Add the Rambam-sitting remark to the Open Questions, not the body (applied).
5. Add the aside on running to the ארון and the סדר היום, without the congregant's name (applied).
6. Present the Lisker's identity as the standard attribution with the recording's ambiguity in the note (applied).
7. Keep the Avudraham's "fifty words" quotation and the Rav's "בלי נדר" (applied).

6.Follow-up Questions Worth Asking the Rav, and Bottom Line

Q1.Which Italian community did the Gaon mean, and does the Rav still hold that the חזור בני רומי tracks קף ארך אפים?

Q2.Did the Rav mean the Lisker Rebbe (R. Tzvi Hirsh) or R. Yeshayahle of Kretschnif as the author of the אף פרי תבואה?

Q3.What is the Chida's source for silence at the opening of the און?

Q4.Where is the Rambam who says one sits after נפילת אפים?

Q5.Where does the Magen Avraham give the reasoning from ערך and which source says the Mishnah Berurah allows שמיה until the scroll is opened?

Q6.Which חרון (the יום?) recommends going to the ארון to honor the Torah?

> Against the transcript, the write-up is a faithful and carefully hedged account of a long, discursive shiur. The first draft's content errors were local: the reversed sit/stand word, the date, a wrong name, and several note details that the Rav did not give. Those are fixed. What stays open is research and transcription, not fidelity: the Lisker's name, the Rambam on sitting, the Chida's source, the Magen Avraham's reasoning, and the Italian rite.
